M Resources partners with JSW to support IIS' (Inspire Institute of Sport) Squash Excellence Program

M Resources is very pleased to announce that they are partnering with JSW Group's initiative, the Inspire Institute of Sport to support the ' Squash Excellence Program, a high-performance program supporting India's most promising squash athletes as they prepare for the sport's Olympic debut at LA 2028.

Through the partnership, the program aims to support 20 athletes across Elite, Performance, and Development squads, providing world-class coaching, mentoring and international exposure through activities including PSA tournaments, integrated sports science, competition support, and international training opportunities.

M Resources collaboration further reinforces IIS' position as a global high-performance ecosystem for sport, attracting international partners committed to supporting the development of world-class Indian athletes and contributing to the country's Olympic ambitions in the lead-up to Los Angeles 2028.

Statement from Leadership:

M Resources Founder and President Matt Latimore said

"We are proud to partner with the Inspire Institute of Sport to support the growth of squash in India at such a pivotal moment. IIS has built a world-class high-performance ecosystem, and we believe the Squash Excellence Program has the potential to nurture athletes who can compete - and succeed - on the Olympic stage at Los Angeles 2028 and beyond."

"We look forward to a continued and mutually supportive working relationship with JSW in the future".

JSW - Managing Director, JSW Cement; Founder, JSW Sports and Inspire Institute of Sport Parth Jindal said

"At IIS, we are committed to bringing the world's best to India and giving our athletes every chance to showcase their skills as we lead up to the Asian Games this year and the 2028 Los Angeles Olympic Games. It has been a breakthrough year for Indian squash, with rising stars like Anahat Singh breaking into the world top 20 and a very strong group of men's players, including Abhay Singh, Veer Chotrani, Ramit Tandon and Velavan Senthilkumar - all in the top 50, developing for the global stage. M Resources coming on board provides a huge fillip to the game. It allows us to increase our support for the Squash Excellence Program and host even larger international tournaments on our shores. At IIS, along with the SRFI, our aim is higher - it is about Olympic medals. I want to thank Matt Lattimore and M Resources for supporting our athletes on this journey. Jai Hind!"
